AUSTIN – The LCRA Board of Directors this week approved new members to its seven Regional Councils that act as communication links between LCRA and the communities it serves in the Colorado River basin.

Joining the LCRA Colorado/Wharton/Matagorda Regional Council are James Allen, Tami Savage and Jerry West, Bay City; County Judge-Elect Phillip Spenrath, Rebecca Lundy Fitts and Richard Young, El Campo; Stephen Bludau, Hallettsville; and City Councilmember Milton Koller, Weimar.

The council program is a mechanism for two-way communication between LCRA and communities in its service area on LCRA issues, projects and activities. The members play a key role in providing feedback, helping LCRA identify and analyze regional issues and consider solutions.

The councils were created to build trust, improve understanding and strengthen relationships in the LCRA service territory. Altogether, 140 people hold positions on the seven councils. In addition to the Colorado/Wharton/Matagorda Regional Council (Colorado, Wharton and Matagorda counties), councils are named Buchanan/Inks (Burnet and Llano counties), LBJ/Marble Falls (Burnet and Llano counties), Pedernales (Gillespie, Blanco, Kerr, Kendall, Bandera and Comal counties), San Saba/Llano (Hamilton, Mills, Lampasas, San Saba, McCulloch, Menard, Kimble, Mason and Llano counties), Bastrop/Fayette (Bastrop, Fayette and parts of Lee, Caldwell and Washington counties) and Travis/Austin (Williamson, Travis and Hays counties).

The Regional Councils soon are beginning their third year of operation. The councils meet every other month to discuss regional issues related to LCRA's mission, which is to provide energy, water and community services and to help ensure the protection and constructive use of natural resources in the lower Colorado River basin.

“Each Regional Council is working well, providing us with much-needed and much-appreciated input from the communities we serve,” said Gail Oliver, LCRA's manager of Public Affairs.

“We look forward to enhancing our communication efforts through learning and sharing together for the betterment of the citizens living in our service territory.

“LCRA very much appreciates the time and effort each of our council members volunteers to this worthwhile effort. We welcome each of our new members.”

Members of the Colorado/Wharton/Matagorda Regional Council who are continuing to serve are Julius Bartek, Weimar; Jim Brasher, Columbus; Owen Bludau, Robert Noster and Haskell Simon, Bay City; Andres Garza Jr., Mayor Domingo Montalvo Jr. and David Schroeder, Wharton; Sam Kana, Eagle Lake; Delmar Krenek, Garwood; and David Melanson and Leeanna Shimek, El Campo.

Amy Brandt is LCRA’s Public Affairs representative in the Colorado/Wharton/Matagorda Regional Council. Brandt can be reached at 1-800-776-5272, Ext. 7774, and amy.brandt@lcra.org.

About LCRA

LCRA is a nonprofit conservation and reclamation district that provides energy, water and community services to Texans. Created by the Texas Legislature in 1934, LCRA has no taxing authority and operates solely on utility revenues and service fees. LCRA supplies electricity to more than 1.1 million Texans through more than 40 wholesale customers. LCRA also provides many other services to the region. These services include managing floods, protecting the quality of the lower Colorado River and its tributaries, providing parks and recreational facilities, offering economic development assistance, operating water and wastewater utilities, and providing soil, energy and water conservation programs.
